

BEDA HAYES.

[To accompany Bill H. R. No. 528.]

MARCH 30, 1860.

Mr. POTTER, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following REPORT.

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Beda Hayes, widow of Dudley Hayes, of Granby, Hartford county, Connecticut, asking for the continuation of her husband's pension, report:

That it appears from the evidence before the committee that Beda Hayes was married in eighteen hundred and five to Dudley Hayes, who was wounded at the battle of Stillwater, being shot through the groin, and crippled for life; that for thirty-nine years she ministered to his care and comfort, he being a great sufferer during the latter part of his life; that the petitioner is advanced in years and in destitute circumstances. Your committee believe that she is rightfully entitled to a pension for fifteen months of service of her said husband, and therefore report a bill for her relief, with the recommendation that it do pass.
